President's Message

By Megan E. Kelly

As I embark upon my year long adventure as your president, my first and perhaps most important task must be to thank Amy Ashworth, Alissa Hudson and the rest of the Executive Board for making the transition so seamless.... now, of course, any disasters can be laid squarely on my shoulders because I certainly can't blame it on any of them....but I digress. Amy accomplished so much last year, most especially reinstating the Judicial Evaluation Program (thanks also to Paul Walla) and implementing an "Orientation to the Prince William Courts" CLE for our newest members as well as those just looking for a refresher (thanks also to Jessica Gurzo). As I sat in Courtroom 6, I have to admit that I learned quite a bit, and I've been around for 15 years!

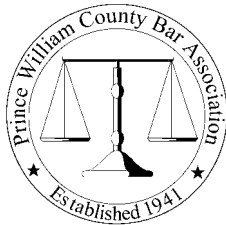

You all know by now what a treasure Alissa is. She has done her best to get me up to speed, and I intend to continue to work closely with her to maintain all of our fine programs and perhaps get one or two more going. In my short time as your president, I've met with some of our most motivated members on a few new projects. Here's what I've got for you.....

Let me start by encouraging all of you to attend the 2011 Bar Dinner Dance. This will be a wonderful celebration of the 70th Anniversary of our Bar Association, and we are planning some special treats to commemorate this accomplishment. It will also be an opportunity to honor our best lawyers as we present the annual Pro Bono Award, the Court Appointed Attorney of the year, and the Sinclair Professionalism Award, among others. If you haven't bought your ticket, do it today! Contact Amy Ashworth for more information and to purchase your tickets.

I wanted to share with you some exciting work on the part of some of our newest attorneys. Jaimy Lewis, Heather Steele and Pat Foltz have begun gathering our younger members in what they hope will develop into a more permanent young lawyers group on a number of fronts. They tell me they plan to work with Jessica Gurzo and the Mentoring and Membership Committee, and Kathy Farrell and the Beat the Odds Mentoring Committee. Perhaps more importantly, they intend to plan monthly social/happy hour events, and build upon our already rich community outreach traditions. They were also quick to remind me that as "young lawyers," they are significantly more tech savvy than all us old farts (something I really couldn't argue....but I really had a hard time stomaching the "old" label). I graciously agreed to accept any help they wanted to offer, then got a glass of wine and called them names in my head. Just kidding. If you are young, young at heart, or otherwise tech savvy, be sure to stay on the look out for their events.

Tracey Lenox, our local Bar Historian, has been working with Alissa on several short and long term projects. She will be updating everyone at the Bar Dinner Dance, as well as

The Ripple Effect and as always, Thanks to All

By Jan Roltsch-Anoll, President PWC Bar Foundation

This is the annual, massive, and never sufficient message of appreciation to all those members of our Bar and our community who contribute their time, their hard-earned dollars, their experience and expertise to the funding and operation of the Bar Foundation and all the various programs it supports and administers. While “thank you” always seems so inadequate there doesn’t appear to be a better way to express the appreciation that is deserved so, thank you all!

Perhaps the best thank you any of us can take from what we contribute to the Foundation each year is evidence of the “ripple effect” of the programs the Foundation is able to sponsor each year. This week I attended the kick-off meeting for the organization of the 2011 Beat the Odds program. One of the new Committee Members from juvenile probation told the committee that probation officers regularly use the Beat the Odds program as a “carrot” to inspire their charges to make positive changes and potentially be nominated as one of those who have beaten the odds. Our current guests at the Juvenile Detention Center have already started working on the art that will be displayed at this year’s awards banquet and while they do that they will be watching video clips of past BTO awards programs and hopefully also finding the means to aspire to a different path. Those who were present at this year’s National Adoption Day got to see the ripple effect of that program on all the children and families involved.

This past year, as a direct result of the generosity of our Bar and community partners, the Foundation funded multiple community service projects for the Bar Association and others including the annual Beat the Odds awards, National Adoption Day, Books for Troubled Teens, Court Tours, So You’re 18, printing of the Court Appointed Attorney’s Pamphlet, Character Counts Essay Contest and the Young Readers Program. None would have been possible without the combined efforts of all who donate their time and resources each year.

Lastly, the Foundation could not operate without the dedication of those who serve on its Board of Directors and who regularly donate their time, guidance and wisdom to the Foundation’s operations. Members of the current Board of the Foundation are listed in appreciation of their tireless service as well as to recognize their firms and organizations and thank them for making that service possible.

Alissa will then post an announcement on the PWC Bar Listserv, and update the voice mail message for the main number at the PWC Bar office, (703) 393-8865, to reflect court closings for the day. If there is no posting and no voice mail update, courts are open.

PWC Bar Foundation Annual Silent Auction

By Amy McCullough, Chair Silent Auction

The Prince William County Bar Foundation will be holding its annual Silent Auction at this year's Dinner Dance on February 19, 2011. This Auction is one of the Bar Foundation's biggest fundraisers each year, and your participation has made it a great success. We are raising money to fund Beat the Odds® scholarships, and other community programs supported by the Bar Foundation, so your support this year is crucial. An item donation form is enclosed with this month's newsletter and I would encourage you to consider providing an item for the auction. If you would like to donate an item, that's wonderful! And if you know of a person or business in the community who may be interested in donating an item to the auction, please feel free to give them a donation form. We hope to see a wide variety of auction items for you all to bid on at the Dinner Dance. In the past, we have had boat trips, wine, jewelry, gift certificates to shops and restaurants, and more. Thank you for your support!

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me at 703-494-7171/ amccullough@szelaw.com, or you can also speak to any of the other members of the Silent Auction Committee – Catherine Croft, Bob Marsh and Brad Marshall.

organizing a display of some great old pictures, as if you need another reason to come to the event! As she recently told me, over the years, lawyers in greater Prince William County have had a hand in most every major accomplishment and advancement seen in the County. We've never taken any steps to research or document this participation, and its time we do so.

Speaking of history, in December, the Executive Board of the Association extended an invitation to all of our past presidents to be members of our newly established Past President's Council. We have such a wealth of resources and experience and it seems just a waste not to organize annual, if not periodic, gatherings to develop ideas and seek guidance. We plan to recognize them at our February Luncheon, and hope that some will share some thoughts and insights with the rest of us. If you are one of the few and the proud, please strongly consider contacting Alissa, joining this group and coming to the February luncheon and the Dinner Dance.

On our community service front, Tony Kostelecky has agreed to spearhead the new Rule of Law project. He will be working with Virginia Bar Association resources and our local middle school teachers to develop a curriculum and training session. The program was originally designed to enhance the teaching of the rule of law to seventh and eighth grade civics students in public and private schools throughout Virginia. The VBA Rule of Law Project is consistent with the Virginia Standards of Learning and is being introduced throughout the state, with citizen lawyers in each locality working collaboratively with teachers and administrators in each school district to implement the program. We are very excited about getting this off the ground, and thank Tony for his time and commitment.

Importantly, the Executive Board plans to schedule Bench Bar meetings in 2011. These meetings are an opportunity for our judges to give us feedback and for our members to raise concerns, suggestions and questions to the bench in each of the three courts. We will be starting with the Circuit Court, and hope to schedule the meeting some time in the first quarter of the year. Please feel free to forward considerations to me at any time, and I will be sure to raise as many as can be accommodated given our time constraints. Thank you in advance for participating in this important tradition, and thank you to our judges for continuing to receive our input.

Finally, our own Will Jarvis was appointed by the Virginia State Bar to serve as a faculty member of the Bar's Professionalism Course. He and I will be working to bring some abbreviated professionalism and ethics training to our monthly lunch meetings. These trainings seek to remind us to consider going beyond what the rules and laws require of us, to take the high road, and in the words of the closing speaker at Will's training, not be jerks. It really is that simple. I find our Bar to be exceedingly courteous, civil and professional, but none of us can claim that we've never lost our temper.

On that note, I promise that Barry and I won't feud anymore.....not sure I'm ready to make the same promise about Von Keller.....

PWC Bar Standing Committees 2011

The Bylaws of the PWC Bar provide for the establishment of standing committees through which much of the work of the Bar is conducted. The Executive Board is providing a summary of the duties of the standing committees for your convenience. As we begin a new year, please consider where you would like to serve and contact Megan Kelly to volunteer. For most committees, chairs and members are appointed by the President or Executive Board. The exceptions are for members of the Judicial Screening Committee, who are elected by the membership for staggered five year terms, and the chair of the Judicial Evaluation Committee, who is elected by the membership for a five year term.

Budget & Audit—Bob Coleman, Chair

The Budget and Audit Committee of the Prince William County Bar Association was formed to provide oversight of the financial and accounting transactions undertaken by the Association each year. An internal audit is performed by the Chair of the B&A Committee and the President-Elect each year, by reviewing a detailed profit and loss statement. Since 2004, the Executive Director has drafted the Bar's budget and presented it to the Budget Committee for review and discussion. The Budget Committee is comprised of the Immediate Past President, the President, the President-Elect, the Chair of the B&A Committee, the Treasurer and the Executive Director. The BOD retains final approval for the budget once it makes it through the B&A Committee.

Community Outreach—Jason Hickman, Chair

The Community Outreach Committee (COC) was created to develop, organize and implement law-related community service projects to heighten community awareness of the legal system and promote respect for the legal profession. The COC works closely with the Prince William County Bar Foundation to gain funding to implement significant projects that the PWCBA would not be able to otherwise financially undertake

Continuing Legal Education—Jane Smith &

Jane Reynolds, Co-Chairs

The Prince William County Bar Association has met the requirements, as set forth by the MCLE board of the Virginia State Bar, to be an accredited CLE sponsor. The CLE chairman is the official contact within the Bar for the MCLE board and the PWC Sheriff's Office and works to develop and present new CLEs of interest to the membership, which showcase local legal talent, and feature guest speakers as appropriate.

Entertainment—Robert Cooper &

Amy Ashworth, Co-Chairs

The Entertainment Committee of the Bar is responsible for coordinating all the Bar's social functions. The biggest event the committee presents each year is the Bar's Annual Dinner Dance. The committee is also responsible for planning and implementing the receptions that typically follow ceremonies such as judicial investitures, retirements, (now held in conjunction with the dinner dance), and judicial portraits. Other activities that the committee has in the past coordinated include summer picnics, horseback riding events, and trips to Camden Yards to see the Orioles.

Criminal Law—Will Jarvis, Chair

The Criminal Law Committee serves to facilitate the exchange of information between members of the Bar who are criminal law practitioners, (prosecution and defense oriented), and the Bench, specifically with respect to policies, procedures and legislative initiatives which affect criminal law. It is also the duty of the Committee to promote and facilitate educational opportunities for criminal law practitioners including, but not limited to, the presentation of continuing legal education seminars.

Family Law—Cassandra Chin, Chair

The Family Law Committee serves to facilitate the exchange of information between members of the Bar who are family law practitioners, and the Bench, specifically with respect to policies, procedures and legislative initiatives which affect family law. It is also the duty of the Committee to promote and facilitate educational opportunities for family law practitioners including, but not limited to, the presentation of continuing legal education seminars.

Judicial Evaluation—Paul Walla, Chair

The Committee shall develop a procedure for judicial evaluation for the judges of the Circuit Court, General District Court and Juvenile and Domestic Relations District Court of the 31st District. The procedure shall be subject to the review and approval of the Board of Directors as to methods and standards; however, the results of evaluations shall not be divulged to the Board. Results will be divulged to the judges each year they are evaluated and to the members of the local legislative delegation only in the year when a judge is being considered for reappointment.

Judicial Liaison—Megan Kelly, Chair

The Judicial Liaison Committee is chaired by the current President of the Bar, and exists to facilitate communication between the Bench and the Bar. Each time the Court elects new chief-judges, the current President invites the Court to meet with the Executive Board of the Bar to discuss issues of mutual interest. These meetings take place with each level of Court. The Membership of the Bar is encouraged to submit items for discussion and the minutes from the meetings are published for the benefit of the Bar. Numerous protocols have been adopted as a result of these meetings, which facilitate the administration of justice in the Thirty-First Judicial Circuit. Additional meetings will be conducted as needed.

Judicial Screening—Robert Zelnick, Chair

The duties of the Judicial Screening Committee are 1) to solicit nominations from Association members for Judgeships when an opening exists or is anticipated; 2) to interview and review the qualifications of those individuals seeking the position and rank the candidates as “qualified” or “not qualified”; 3) to notify the membership of the Association of the “qualified” candidates and provide information regarding them; and 4) to administer the nomination and voting process as outlined in the Bylaws of the Association, which will result in the designation of an endorsed candidate, a first alternate and a second alternate. The results of this process will be forwarded to the members of the General Assembly delegation and other appropriate persons as outlined in the Bylaws of the Association. The other proceedings of the Committee are confidential.

Legislative Affairs—Anthony Kostelecky, Chair

The Legislative Affairs committee periodically reviews legislation filed that could affect the legal profession in general, and in Prince William County in particular. The committee will inform the membership as needed of issues of potential interest so they may contact their representatives on an individual basis should they so chose.

Library—Helen Marmoll, Chair

The Library Committee works with the Librarian and the Court to maintain a working Library that is available to both Court personnel and the public, particularly attorneys. Support for the Library comes primarily from an assessed fee out of which the Library budget is paid, with the excess going into an escrow fund for future library projects. Within these financial parameters and regulatory limits, it is also the task of the Library Committee to both improve the Library and enlarge the escrow fund for future projects. The Library Committee currently meets quarterly at the Courthouse and at such other times as may be necessary.

Membership and Mentoring—Jessica Gurzo, Chair

The Membership and Mentoring Committee of the Prince William County Bar Association developed and implemented the Mentor Program in 2002 in response to the growth in size and diversity of our Bar. The Mentor Program aims to (i) preserve and promote the customs, courtesies, professionalism and personal relationships our Bar has enjoyed over the years; (ii) preserve these practices in order to deliver more efficient and less costly legal services to our clients, while making the practice of law more pleasant and satisfying for Bar members; (iii) instill in Bar members, regardless of age or experience, an appreciation and sensitivity to ethical practices and considerations that are essential to the practice of law; (iv) provide new attorneys ready access to ideas and wisdom about marketing, networking, career advancement, professional etiquette or other matters, which do not substantively concern the practice of law; and (v) create a support network and foster a sense of belonging such that new Bar members will feel they are part of an association that is willing to provide assistance and guidance during the early years of their law practice in our community.

Pro Bono—Rusty von Keller, Chair

The Pro Bono Committee develops and administers a variety of pro bono initiatives for the Bar. Many of these programs involve collaborative efforts with the Prince William Branch of Legal Services of Northern Virginia, and ACTs/Turning Points, the local domestic violence shelter. These programs include the Uncontested Divorce Project; The Temporary Restraining Order Program; The Wills for Heroes Project; and the Modest Means Panel, a program designed to provide legal representation to clients for a reduced fee, based on prior qualification. The committee also administers the Books for Troubled Teens program, a program established to provide books for the residents of area juvenile detention facilities.

The committee is also responsible for organizing the presentation of the Bar’s Pro bono award, when a recipient is deemed worthy.

Nominating—Scott Newton, Chair

The Nominating committee coordinates the nomination and election of the Officers, Directors, and members of the Judicial Screening Committee. The process usually begins in Fall with annual elections held during the January Annual Meeting. In addition, the committee coordinates the election for any vacancies created during a term in office.

Professionalism—William Stephens, Chair

The professionalism committee deals with areas of ethics and collegial relations among bar members. The committee is also responsible for convening the sub-committee that organizes the presentation of the Bar’s Arthur Sinclair Professionalism award, when a recipient is deemed worthy.

Public Relations—Chair is open

The Public Relations Committee’s primary focus is to improve the public image of the bench and bar in the Prince William County area. The Committee assisted in the development of a public relations brochure titled, “Working With a Lawyer”, which is distributed through the Bar Association office and at other public events the Bar sponsors. Ideally, the Committee works with the Bar, the media, and with other organizations to more effectively communicate to the public the good works of the association.
